Chas. Honabarger Takes Own Life at Bakersville Well Known Young Farmer Victim of Tragedy Saturday Night—Leaves Widow and One Child

Charles Honabarger, aged about 23, committed suicide by shooting himself at his home one mile south of Bakersville Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The shot took effect in the young man's forehead and he died one hour and a half after committing the deed.

He was found lying in an upstairs bedroom by his mother and wife who had heard the shot. Dr. Wilson, of Bakersville, was summoned immediately but found upon his arrival that his services would avail nothing.

No motive was assigned for the rash act although the victim is said to have had some domestic trouble a short time ago.

Honabarger had never threatened to take his life and while eating the evening meal with his wife, mother and little child he seemed to be enjoying his usual good health and spirits.

Retires to Room

After eating his supper Honabarger performed a few chores about the house and went upstairs telling his wife and mother that he was going to retire.

A short time later a shot was heard and the women rushed to the upstairs bedroom to find him lying on the floor in a pool of his own blood with a bullet hole in his forehead and a 32-calibre revolver at his side.

He never regained consciousness and all efforts of Dr. Wilson who was summoned were to no avail. He died just one hour and a half after shooting himself.

Former Warsaw Resident

According to neighbors, Honabarger and his wife had trouble several years ago and lived apart from each other for some time. However, the trouble was smoothed over and the couple were again living together.

Charles Honabarger formerly resided in the vicinity of Warsaw but several years ago removed to a farm near Bakersville where he was regarded as a promising young man. He was well known to a large circle of friends over the county who will be shocked to learn of his tragic death.

Surviving Relatives

In addition to the widow, the young man is survived by his mother and a little daughter. He is also survived by two brothers, Dr. Honabarger of Warsaw and one other brother who resides in Canton, and two sisters who reside in the vicinity of Bakersville. Funeral arrangements had not been completed at a late hour Saturday night.

Mrs. Chas. Callentine Passes Away in Newark

Mrs. Charles Callentine, aged 36, died in the Newark City hospital Saturday morning at 6 o'clock after a few days' critical illness. Mrs. Callentine was Miss Minnie Weaver of this city previous to her marriage and there are many friends in this city who will be grieved to hear of her death.

Callentine had been in ill health several months past and a few days ago became seriously ill. She was removed to the hospital in Newark with the intention of undergoing an operation but at no time was her condition such that she could safely submit to the operation and she failed rapidly until the end came.

The woman is Mrs. Burton Perkins and her children are Anna, Allen and Doris, aged 13, 11 and 14 respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. Senter were married fifty years ago Saturday by the late Dr. James Slaughter of Willow Brook. They spent four years of their early married life in Missouri and the remainder in their present home in Milford. They have seven children, thirty-one grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. The aged couple were the recipients of many useful presents and after receiving congratulations a sumptuous dinner was served to the guests.

TENDER ON PENNSY FAST TRAIN LEAVES RAILS NEAR XENIA, O.

Passengers on the "Manhattan Limited," the fast east-bound Pennsy train, which passes through Coshocton at about 6:45 p. m., had a miraculous escape near Xenia, O., Friday afternoon. The train was being pulled by two locomotives and while proceeding at a high rate of speed, the trucks of the tender of the second engine left the rails. Fortunately, the train was brought to a stop before it could be derailed. A remarkable feature of the mishap was that while the engineer was bringing the train to a standstill, it passed over a high trestle with the wheels of the tender scraping the ties.

YOUTH WIRES FISHPLATES TO W. & L. E. TRACKS NEAR OSNABURG, O.

Charles Carl, aged 16, was arrested at his home in Osnaburg, Stark county, Friday charged with attempting to wreck a passenger train on the Carrollton branch of the W. & L. E. railway. It is claimed that the youth wired some fishplates on the track but fortunately, the obstruction was discovered by a track walker and removed just before the passenger train was due. It is thought that the boy merely had a desire to witness a wreck.

Shipment of Livestock Very Light

Flooded streams and impassable roads again materially interfered with stock shipments from this point last week. W. H. Dickey shipped one load of sheep and Warren Smiley one load of horses to the Pittsburgh market.

Day Lawrence shipped 250 head of sheep last Wednesday. Mr. Dickey has three bunches of sheep north of the city that he is feeding until the rivers recede enough to get them into this city and on to the cars.

There were twenty-four head of horses in Smiley's shipment several of them being of first class quality.

Boys Sober up When Cop Appears

A crowd of boys whose ages range from 15 to 18 years were given a warm chase Saturday night by Lieutenant Hankins, when they were found drinking whiskey behind a saloon on North Fifth street.

The youths had drunk enough of the "booze" to imagine they were drunk but upon seeing the officer approaching, they "sobered" in a hurry and beat a hasty retreat.

Another Horse Dies of Malady

Charles McGee who resides between Tripway and New Moscow, lost a valuable driving horse Saturday morning.

The animal died of distemper.

Telephone Operator Suicides

Bolivar, O., Jan. 18.—Mary Lab 34, night operator in the local Bell telephone office, committed suicide at 6 o'clock Saturday morning by drinking a quantity of carbolic acid. She died in terrible agony at 7:15 o'clock.

Although the cause of her rash act is said to be the deepest mystery, it is thought that she had had domestic troubles. The customary note usually left by suicides has not been found.

Waters Recede Slowly

Saturday night at eight o'clock the flood started to fall slowly and continued falling at the rate of about two inches an hour.

Colder weather and the strong wind which sprang up Saturday checked the rise of the waters and kept the flood from reaching the dangerous stage.

At one o'clock this morning there was still a stage of 11 feet. The water covered the Roscoe road to a depth of about three inches and the Lewisville road about three feet.

Alarmed by Epidemic of Pneumonia

SIX NEW CASES REPORTED IN CHALFANTS-NEW MOSCOW VICINITY.

Extra Sheet But No Night Shirt

A well known local business man who has an interest in stores outside the city, was summoned one day last week by wire to visit one of the stores in a city in the central part of the state.

It was a hurry-up call and he rushed home to change clothes and get a bite to eat. While his wife was getting him a lunch he dressed and packed his suit case.

"Where's my night shirt," he yelled down stairs.

"Hanging where it always does," his wife chirruped back up the stairway.

Later he came down stairs and with true wifely solicitude she asked if he found his "robe de nuit." "Yes, I found it all right," he said as he kissed her goodbye.

Two days later she was preparing to iron and went upstairs to get an old sheet which she used to encase her ironing board in. The sheet couldn't be found, but hanging near was her husband's night gown which he had overlooked as he hastily crammed the sheet in his suit case the day he left town.

BOLD MAIL BOX "ROBBER" CREATES EXCITEMENT

"Much Ado About Nothing" might have been the title of a little drama enacted in this city Friday evening with Lee McCamant, post office clerk, playing the leading role.

Sent to Remove Box
Friday afternoon telephone lines at work at South Lawn and Ash streets accidentally dropped some heavy tools from a telephone pole, the tools striking Uncle Sam's mail box fastened to the pole and putting it out of commission. The matter was reported at the post office and McCamant was sent out, armed with a hatchet, to remove the box.

Neighbors and it was soon noised about in that section of town that "someone was robbing the mail-box." The fact that it was a rainy night and that McCamant was garbed in a rain coat and slouch hat added somewhat to the air of mystery.

Called the Police
All sorts of theories were afloat concerning the motive for such a crime (?) and the fact that tampering with a mail box is a penitentiary offense spurred one law-abiding citizen on to the point of calling the police. However, before the long arm of the law had reached out for McCamant the law-abiding citizen had learned that the supposed "robber" was simply carrying out the letter of the law in destroying a damaged mail box.

"Robbing Mail Box"
The heavy blows which McCamant so valiantly dealt the box attracted the attention of the neighbors and it was soon noised about in that section of town that "someone was robbing the mail-box." The fact that it was a rainy night and that McCamant was garbed in a rain coat and slouch hat added somewhat to the air of mystery.

ADVISES REMOVAL OF ISLANDS FROM FORKS

The flooded condition of the rivers again had its effect on local business houses Saturday to a marked degree.

With the Roscoe and Keene Canal Lewisville roads covered, a large section of the county is shut off from this city and as a result, just when the farmers wish to take advantage of the many bargain sales which are being held, they are kept out of the city by the flood.

Remove Islands in "Forks"
It was suggested Saturday afternoon by a Main street business man that it would be necessary to discover a way so that travel to this city would not be interfered with to such a large extent and as there seems to be no chance of getting the new bridges built, the problem could be solved largely by a municipal gravel pit which would remove the islands in the Tuscarawas and Muskingum rivers.

Gravel Pit Would Pay
It is shown that with a municipal gravel pit the city could at least make expenses and possibly clear money on it at the same time remove the islands and take care of all the new deposits which would be formed by the current.

EVERY 183,000 TONS COAL COSTS ONE MINER'S LIFE

Washington, Jan. 16.—One miner's life is snuffed out with every 183,000 tons of coal mined in the United States. In 1907 when the federal bureau of mines was beginning its work the ratio was greater: One life was given with every 144,000 tons. Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, director of the United States Bureau of Mines, in his annual report today to Secretary Fisher attributes the decrease to the mortality to the federal government's work in the mining fields, and points out how the enormous death list may be still further reduced.

While much remains to be done, including a broad extension of the investigation of accident and rescue work so that it will include metal and other mineral mines as well as coal mines. Dr. Holmes shows that whereas there was an average of 6.93 men killed for every 1,000,000 tons of coal mined in 1907, this number decreased steadily to 6.05 in 1908, to 5.79 the next year, 5.66 in 1910 and 5.48 in the calendar year 1911. The figures for the year just closed, it is estimated, will show further decrease in the death rate.

The death rate in the metal mines of the country is nearly as high, he declares.

The enormous annual loss in mining and preparing coal for market, the huge waste of natural gas, as in the metal mining industries as mentioned by Dr. Holmes. This extravagance of natural resources, he asserts, should be checked.

"Pioneer educational work, temporary in character," is the way in which the director refers to the mine rescue and first aid among the more than 700,000 miners in the 15,000 mines of the country. Ultimately this must taken care of he says by the coal mining companies through the training and organization of miners at each of the larger mines or groups of mines. He states that already a number of companies maintain rescue stations at their own expense. The chief purpose of the bureau of mines is to train miners in first-aid, mine-rescue and fire-fighting methods.

Health conditions in and about mines should be investigated, in the opinion of Dr. Holmes. Preliminary inquiries, he says, "have indicated the prevalence of tuberculosis and the presence of hookworm as miners' diseases in several different localities in the United States. It is important that this work should be extended rapidly, because of the fact that the health conditions, as well as the risk of accidents, may be influenced by conditions susceptible of easy improvement.

In all but two of the mines where large disastrous explosions have taken place during the last few years open lights were used, he says, and if safety conditions are to be improved it seems probable that the use of electric lamps will be widely extended. The bureau has made tests showing how electric motors should be incased to render safer their operation in gaseous coal mines. It has shown that explosive mixtures of mine gases may be ignited by the breaking of an electric light bulb.

The director dwells on the necessity of trying to prevent explosions rather than check them after they are started. In this connection he calls attention to the fact that there has been a "revolution in the use of explosives in coal mining," and the work of the bureau "in investigating explosives has alone a value far greater than the entire cost of maintaining the bureau since its establishment." He says that now more than 13,000,000 pounds a year are being used of "permissible explosives," whereas a few years ago practically none was used.

Horse Is Stopped in High Time

Dennison, O., Jan. 17.—T. B. Hicks and F. D. Ripley, two farmers living in Rush township, near Blizard Ridge, figured in an accident Wednesday which resulted in the death of a horse and came near causing the death of the two men.

Hicks, assisted by Ripley, had loaded a long, measuring 10 feet in length and 30 inches in diameter at the smaller end, on a wagon and were conveying it down a steep hill preparatory to taking it to Stillwater.

When near the Fivecoat residence the wagon suddenly began to slip and a few moments later turned completely over. One of the horses was lifted bodily and thrown completely over the other animal. It was at first thought that the horse had not been seriously injured, and Hicks started with it toward his home.

The animal went a quarter of a mile and then sank down and died two hours later. It was valued at $50. The other horse was uninjured.

Hicks the owner of the horse was walking alongside the wagon on the lower side of the hill, with Ripley on the other side, applying the brake. Ripley, seeing what was about to happen, shouted to his companion who just had time to jump out of harm's way. Ripley also had a narrow escape.

The Liquor Forces Win First Round

Columbus, O., Jan. 17.—Liquor forces won the first round of their fight when they practically persuaded the joint house and senate committee to conduct only two hearings on the license bill. These will be held Monday and Tuesday nights and admission will be by ticket only. Each salon will be allotted three tickets. The limitation on the size of the audience is sought to prevent demonstrations.

Superintendent Wayne B. Wheeler of the Anti-Saloon league appeared for the drys and Nicholas Dutle of Dayton for the wets. The temperance forces said two hearings were not enough. There is no expectation that either of the bills now proposed for license will be passed. A compromise measure is expected, and in this the liquor people are expected to have the best of it.

STOMACH MISERY JUST VANISHSE

Time It! No Indigestion, Gas or Sourness five minutes after taking "Pape's Diapepsin."

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only fifty cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases, then you will understand why dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. Diapepsin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for indigestion or gastritis or any other stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion.

CONSOLIDATE RURAL SCHOOLS AND CHURCHES

Columbus, O., Jan. 17.—Centralization and consolidation of rural schools and churches to stop their decadence and promote their efficiency, were recommended by Gifford Pinchot, former chief forester of the United States; P. P. Claxton of Washington, D. C., commissioner of the United States bureau of education, and other speakers on "Country Life Day" today at the chamber of commerce auditorium. It was observed in connection with the annual meeting of the Ohio state board of agriculture here tonight.

Mr. Pinchot in the course of his address on the country church, said: "Country ministers are paid a little more, but they can purchase less than they could 20 years ago and church attendance in rural districts is less in proportion to membership than it was a score of years ago."

A Life Job
 "Consolidate the country schools and have one for every 16 square miles, put it in charge of a man who is given a contract for life during good behavior, give him a 20 or 30-acre piece of ground and a house and make him cultivate his land as a model farm build him a home as you have built parsonages for your preachers, put a shop or laboratory in your centralized country school and farmers' children will be able to secure education that will fit them for the complex life they must lead," recommended United States Commissioner Claxton.

Class of Tramps
 He also declared that "the country school teachers are the greatest class of tramps the country has ever known," because they rarely ever teach in one district more than one or two years. "Ministerial vivisection" by which one minister is divided up between from four to seven different churches was held by Herman N. Morse, historian of the Ohio Rural Life Survey, to be the cause of decline of the country church.

Prof. L. Vogt, of Miami university, said the decline in country schools is attributable to a lack of co-ordination between the various districts and urged the establishment of supervisors whose work should be primarily to supervise, not to teach.

TENDER ON PENNSY FAST TRAIN LEAVES RAILS NEAR XENIA, O.

Passengers on the "Manhattan Limited," the fast east-bound Pennsy train, which passes through Coshocton at about 6:45 p. m., had a miraculous escape near Xenia, O., Friday afternoon. The train was being pulled by two locomotives and while proceeding at a high rate of speed, the trucks of the tender of the second engine, left the rails. Fortunately, the train was brought to a stop before it could be derailed. A remarkable feature of the mishap was that while the engineer was bringing the train to a standstill, it passed over a high trestle with the wheels of the tender scraping the ties.

YOUTH WIRES FISHPLATES TO W. & L. E. TRACKS NEAR OSNABURG, O.

Charles Carl, aged 16, was arrested at his home in Osnaburg, Stark county, Friday charged with attempting to wreck a passenger train on the Carrollton branch of the W. & L. E. railway. It is claimed that the youth wired some fishplates on the track but fortunately, the obstruction was discovered by a track walker and removed just before the passenger train was due. It is thought that the boy merely had a desire to witness a wreck.

Boys Sober up When Cop Appears

A crowd of boys whose ages range from 15 to 18 years were given a warm chase Saturday night by Lieutenant Hankins, when they were found drinking whiskey behind a saloon on North Fifth street. The youths had drunk enough of the "booze" to imagine they were drunk but upon seeing the officer approaching, they "sobered" in a hurry and beat a hasty retreat.

Although the cause of her rash act is said to be the deepest mystery, it is thought that she had had domestic troubles. The customary note usually left by suicides has not been found.

Waters Recede Slowly

Saturday night at eight o'clock the flood started to fall slowly and continued falling at the rate of about two inches an hour. Colder weather and the strong wind which sprang up Saturday checked the rise of the waters and kept the flood from reaching the dangerous stage.

At one o'clock this morning there was still a stage of 11 feet. The water covered the Roscoe road to a depth of about three inches and the Lewisville road about three feet.

Shipment of Livestock Very Light

Flooded streams and impassable roads again materially interfered with stock shipments from this point last week. W. H. Dickey shipped one load of sheep and Warren Smiley one load of horses to the Pittsburg market.

Day Lawrence shipped 250 head of sheep last Wednesday. Mr. Dickey has three bunches of sheep north of the city that he is feeding until the rivers recede enough to get them into this city and on the cars.

There were twenty-four head of horses in Smiley's shipment several of them being of first class quality.

Extra Sheet But No Night Shirt

A well known local business man who has an interest in stores outside the city, was summoned one day last week by wire to visit one of the stores in a city in the central part of the state.

It was a hurry-up call and he rushed home to change clothes and get a bite to eat. While his wife was getting him a lunch he dressed and packed his suit case.

"Where's my night shirt," he yelled down stairs. Hanging where it always does, his wife chirruped back up the stairway.

Later he came down stairs and with true wifely solicitude she asked if he found his "robe de nuit." "Yes, I found it all right," he said as he kissed her goodbye.

Two days later she was preparing to iron and went upstairs to get an old sheet which she used to encase her ironing board in. The sheet couldn't be found, but hanging near was her husband's night gown which he had overlooked as he hastily crammed the sheet in his suit case the day he left town.

BOLD MAIL BOX "ROBBER" CREATES EXCITEMENT

"Much Ado About Nothing" might have been the title of a little drama enacted in this city Friday evening with Lee McCamant, post office clerk, playing the leading role.

Sent to Remove Box

Friday afternoon telephone linemen at work at South Lawn and Ash streets accidentally dropped some heavy tools from a telephone pole, the tools striking Uncle Sam's mail box fastened to the pole and putting it out of commission. The matter was reported at the post office and McCamant was sent out, armed with a hatchet, to remove the box.

"Robbing Mail Box"
The heavy blows which McCamant so valiantly dealt the box attracted the attention of the neighbors and it was soon noised about in that section of town that "someone was robbing the mailbox." The fact that it was a rainy night and that McCamant was garbed in a rain coat and slouch hat added somewhat to the air of mystery.

Calls the Police

All sorts of theories were afloat concerning the motive for such a crime (?) and the fact that tampering with a mail box is a penitentiary offense spurred one law abiding citizen on to the point of calling the police. However, before the long arm of the law had reached out for McCamant the law-abiding citizen had learned that the supposed "robber" was simply carrying out the letter of the law in destroying a damaged mail box.

ADVISES REMOVAL OF ISLANDS FROM FORKS

The flooded condition of the rivers again had its effect on local business houses Saturday to a marked degree.

With the Roscoe and Keene Canal Lewisville roads covered, a large section of the county is shut off from this city and as a result, just when the farmers wish to take advantage of the many bargain sales which are being held, they are kept out of the city by the flood.

Remove Islands in "Forks"

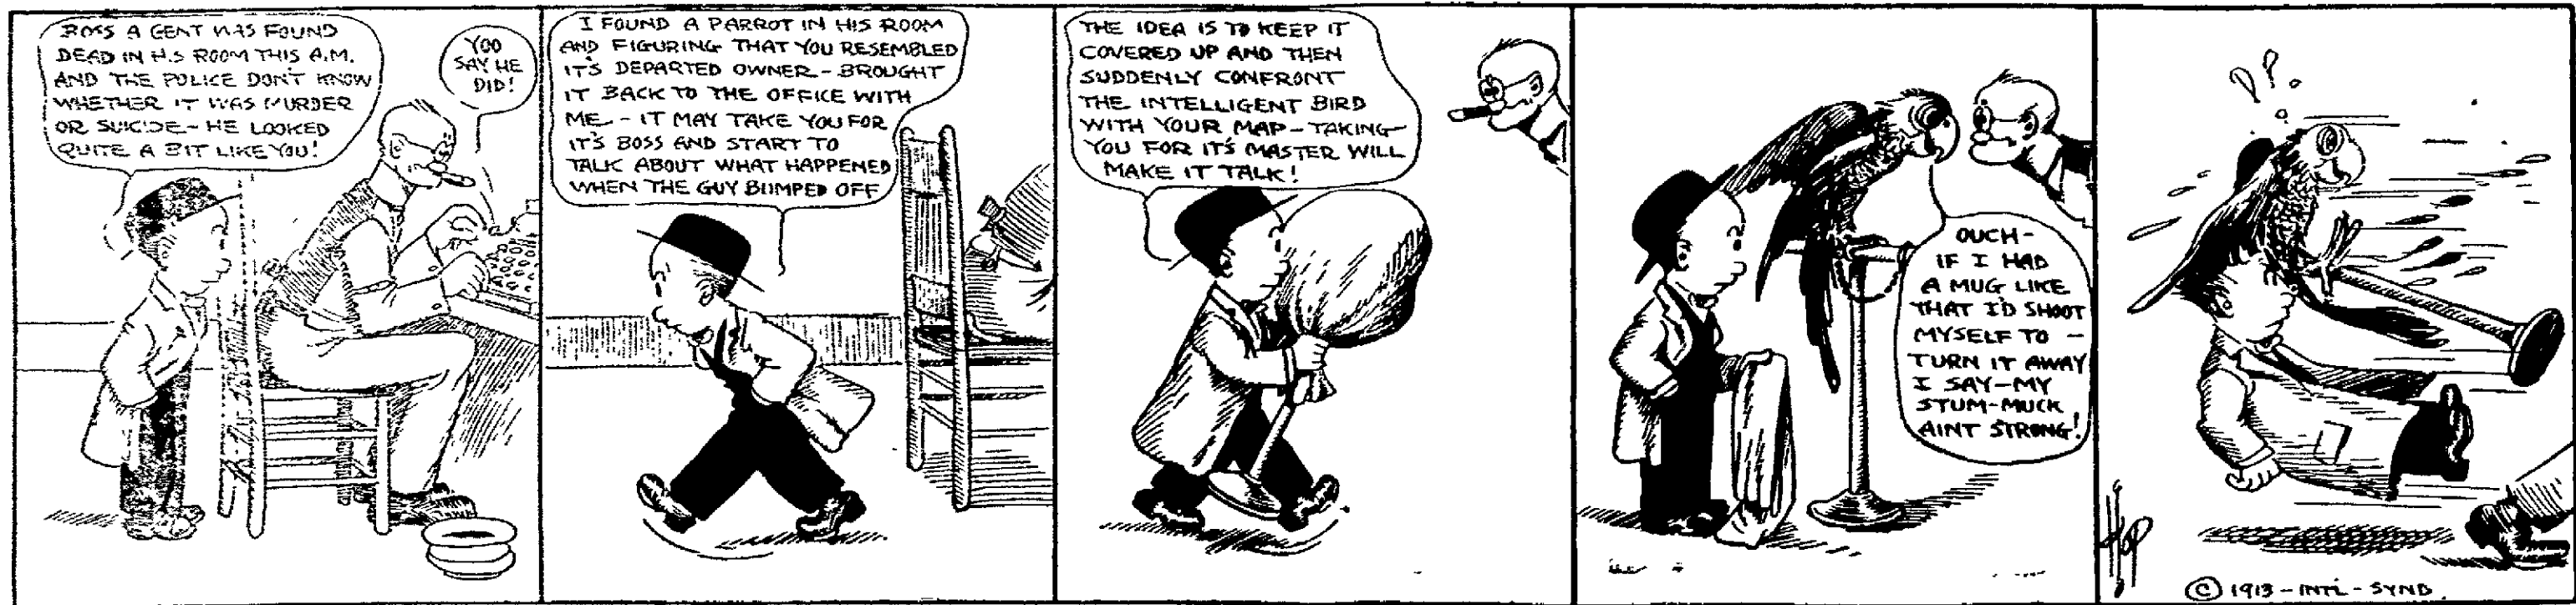

It was suggested Saturday afternoon by a Main street business man that it would be necessary to discover a way so that travel to this city would not be interfered with to such a large extent and as there seems to be no chance of getting the new bridges built, the problem could be solved largely by a municipal gravel pit which would remove the islands in the Tuscarawas and Muskingum riv-

Flood May Do It
Recently a ditch was dug through the center of the island at the foot of Locust street in the Tuscarawas river and it was thought that in this way the island would be washed away and the channel widened and deepened at this point.

However, the ditch partly filled with a deposit of gravel and so far, no good has been accomplished. There is a chance that the ditch may serve its purpose, however, as the flood, with its terrific force, may wash the island completely away.

Gravel Pit Would Pay
It is shown that with a municipal gravel pit the city could at least make expenses and possibly clear money on it at the same time remove the islands and take care of all the new deposits which would be formed by the current.

Arbor Day on April 4

Copy the spirit of the day into the home as well as into the school. It is the sentiment of Governor Cox's Arbor day proclamation issued Thursday. It was the new governor's first official proclamation.

April 4 is the day designated. Teachers will instruct their pupils for two hours concerning the value and interest of forestry and the duty of the public to protect the birds, and also for the planting of forest trees.

"Let us not confine our observance of Arbor Day alone to the schools and institutions of learning," said Governor Cox. "Let us be mindful at this time of the great scheme of nature wherein the humblest plant and flower as well as the lordliest of the animal creation, has its proper place."

"MISS NOBODY FROM STARLAND"

With its justly famous beauty chorus, the much-talked-of dress rehearsal scene, its numerous song hits clever dances, "Miss Nobody from Starland," the successful Mort H. Singer musical revue, will come to the 6th st theatre on Tuesday Jan. 21. Joseph E. Howard, who has composed more genuine song hits than any other song writer, found sufficient inspiration in the excellent book and lyrics furnished by his collaborators, Hough and Adams, to provide this musical comedy with his best compositions. Every number is a decided song hit, especially "Hello! Little Sweetheart," "My Pretty Moon," "I'll Be Your Honey When It's Moonlight," "I'd Rather Love What I Cannot Have Than Have What I Cannot Love," "Ah, Marie," and "That Dainty Devilish Rhapsody."

Olive Vail, the clever prima donna who is a delightful comedienne possessed of a good voice, appears in the title role, which she created when "Miss Nobody from Starland" was produced at the Princess Theatre, Chicago, where it has a prosperous run of over three hundred performances. Miss Vail will be supported by an excellent cast of principals and a large beauty chorus.

Scenically, "Miss Nobody from Starland" is one of the most elaborate productions on tour. The first act shows the main deck of the giant ocean liner, Lusitania; the second scene is that of the stage of the Princess Theatre, Chicago, where the great dress rehearsal scene takes place, and the third act takes place in a well known cafe.

Catarrh Of The Stomach

I have been asked various questions about catarrh of the stomach. Some people seem to think it strange that there should be such a disease. They ask, "Can catarrh, the same kind of catarrh that one has in the nose and throat, get into the stomach?"

Yes, the same kind of catarrh that one has in the nose, the same kind of catarrh that affects the cavities of the head, the same kind of catarrh to which the throat is subject may affect the mucous membranes of the stomach.

As I told you in previous articles, the stomach is lined with a mucous membrane. So is the nose and the throat. Wherever there is a mucous membrane there is a liability to catarrh. Catarrh is essentially disease of the mucous membrane.

Pe-ru-na Removes the Cause. It is perfectly useless to take artificial digestants, or to take dyspepsia remedies. What is needed is a catarrh remedy.

Pe-ru-na is not only a catarrh remedy, but is a digestant. Therefore, Pe-ru-na will not only temporarily assist the stomach in its function and thus give prompt relief, but it tends also towards eradicating the catarrh. The cause of most cases of dyspepsia, heart burn, sour rising, full feeling after meals, coated tongue, constipation the cause of most cases of this sort is catarrh of the stomach.

FIND DROWNED BODY MISSING POSTMASTER

Cambridge, O., Jan. 18.—The body of Dr. C. R. Austin, 40, postmaster at Byesville, this county, was found at noon today along the banks of Willis Creek near here, where it has been left by the receding flood. Dr. Austin was apparently drowned while walking from this city to Byesville Monday night. He took the railroad track paralleling the course of the creek. The drowned man had just returned from Washington and as it was believed at his home and the postoffice that he might still be at that place no alarm was felt until yesterday at his failure to return. Searching parties were organized this morning. He had been asked to resign as postmaster. He was a native of Dresden.

NAB SOCIETY DAMES IN GAMBLING RAID

New York, Jan. 19.—Women of New York's smart set who have a penchant for visiting private gambling emporiums are on the anxious seat, following a raid on a fashionable apartment in West Ninety-second street, where 15 women and seven men, all in evening dress, were found around two poker tables.

Rumor says subpoenas are likely to issue. All the players in a raid were allowed to go after they had given their names, most of which the police believe were fictitious.

CAN CONTEST SUIT OF DEAD HUSBAND

New York, Jan. 19.—Following two years of litigation Mrs. Bessie H. Hunt, the former wife of the late John W. Hunt, known as the "turpentine king," was permitted by the appellate division of the supreme court to have a hearing in her fight to reopen her divorce proceedings.

Hunt got a decree of absolute divorce from Mrs. Hunt in July, 1910, and he died in November the same year, leaving several millions of dollars. At the time of his death, Mrs. Hunt was fighting to reopen the divorce proceedings.

In April 1911, Justice Stapleton threw her case out of court on the ground that the action was abated by her husband's death. The appellate division now permits Mrs. Hunt to present certain facts to the court in the suit just as though Mr. Hunt were alive.

If Mrs. Hunt succeeds in reopening the case and having the decree set aside, she will become the widow of the "turpentine king" and share in his millions.

ASKS ROCKEFELLER FOR FALSE TEETH

Washington, Jan. 19.—Jerome D. Green threw some interesting light on the number of begging letters received daily by Mr. Rockefeller.

"Mr. Rockefeller himself," said Mr. Green, "receives about 500 letters a day, most of them requesting aid in amounts ranging from $5 to sums in seven figures. Perhaps the most curious of all these letters was received from an old lady who wanted Mr. Rockefeller to buy her a set of false teeth."

"Under present conditions it is utterly impossible for Mr. Rockefeller, even with the assistance of a large staff, personally to give full attention to this correspondence."

"However, with the Rockefeller foundation in existence, having an annual income of $5,000,000 and a sufficient corps of trained investigators into all forms of philanthropy, it would be possible to handle not only a part of Mr. Rockefeller's correspondence which deals with eleemosynary cases, but the same kind of mail coming to other philanthropists as well, with justice and dispatch."

Astor Property Divided. New York, Jan. 19.—In carrying out the will of the late John Jacob Astor the trustees of the Astor estate James R. Roosevelt, Douglas Robinson, Vincent Astor and Nicholas Biddle, transferred eight parcels of real estate, aggregating $3,568,600, to Mrs. Madeleine Fox Astor, her infant son, John Jacob Astor, and Ava Alice Muriel Astor. Mr. Astor's daughter by his first wife. The Astor will left the income of $5,000,000 to Miss Madeleine F. Astor, the widow; $5,000,000 in trust for Ava Astor, to be hers absolutely on reaching her majority, and a trust fund of $3,000,000 to young John Jacob Astor.

Minister is Champion Eater. New Brunswick, N. J., Jan. 19.—The Rev. Dr. Harold P. Other competitors retired early.

STOMACH UPSET? SOUR? "CASCARETS"

Gently cleanse and regulate your Stomach, Liver and Bowels while you sleep.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good cleansing, too.

SENATOR ROOT'S FATUOUS POLICY

It will be a sight capable of moving the gods alternately to tears and uncontrollable laughter when Elihu Root, United States senator from the state of New York, rises in his place in the senate to tell his colleagues that the Kenyon-Sheppard bill to prohibit the shipment of liquor into dry states is "UNCONSTITUTIONAL."

"UNCONSTITUTIONAL." What a word to conjure with is that when it is rolled unctuously from the tongues of austere and reverend senators! With what owl-like wisdom in the past have those who occupied the seats of the mighty rung the changes on that word so dear to their hearts!

How the path that leads OUTWARD AND AWAY from the United States senate chamber is strewn with the wrecks of mighty intellects who have trifled with the people's honor and who have sold their own birthrights for a mess of pottage and who, in each tragic instance have tried to cloak their own miserable responsibility behind that one word—"UNCONSTITUTIONAL."

Payne and Spooner and Burrows and Foraker and Bailey and a despairingly long line of others, graced by Providence with every good gift of body and mind; honored by constituencies in whom they had first inspired trust; advocates, every one of them in their earlier years, of the RIGHTS OF MEN as opposed to the RIGHTS OF DOLLARS; attracting friend and foe alike by the magnetism of charming personalities; amazing the multitudes with the brilliancy of their intellectual attainments; marked by the beneficiaries of special privilege as valuable additions to their hordes of lieutenants in the people's state and federal assemblies; wandering further and further from their early moorings; and, finally, going, bag and baggage into the camp of the High Priests of SPECIAL PRIVILEGE; one by one we have seen these men deserting the cause of the people and in the end remorselessly thrown aside and trampled under foot by the TRUTH they had betrayed.

And now comes the great Root selling himself to the same service, treading the same path the others have trod and defending in his day the same pernicious influences the others defended in theirs. For the price that his predecessors in the senate received and with the same abject submission to the will of his masters they displayed, Senator Root will raise the same futile cry they raised in years ago—"UNCONSTITUTIONAL."

What is the constitution but the highest will of the people? What is there in the constitution that, in the estimation of Root and all the rest, justifies the exclusion from interstate commerce under the Pure Food and Drug act of what ever article of commerce that is deemed harmful to the people, which will not at the same time justify the exclusion of every form of intoxicant?

From what source was the constitutional power derived last fall for excluding under an interstate commerce ruling, diseased Christmas trees from the state of Maine that will not apply identically to what it is now proposed to exclude under the provisions of the Kenyon-Sheppard bill?

Is it possible that men with the intellectual discernment of Senator Root believe that they are masters of a sophistry so subtle that they can actually blind the people to the merits of a controversy so fundamental as this? What more vital principle of democracy is there than the exercise of the police powers of one state to protect its people from the invasion of harmful drugs, foods, books and plants from the outside?

What chain of evils, what chaos, what riot of confusion would there not follow the overthrow of this the most ancient and fundamental principle, not only of our own, but of every democracy in the world? What would become of our boasted adherence to the principle of home rule if the brewers and distillers of this nation through their paid attorneys could defeat a measure like this on the absurd theory that it is "UNCONSTITUTIONAL?"

Rather should there be a genuine surprise that there is any necessity for the federal government to pass a measure of the nature of the Kenyon-Sheppard bill. Since when has it become necessary for the federal government to prostitute its powers to the service of a special interest and by indirection at least, seek to compel the people of a sovereign state to accept that which they do not want and that which, in the common experience of mankind, is at the bottom of more want and misery and woe than all other human agencies combined?

"UNCONSTITUTIONAL." How strangely familiar does this word sound from the lips of Senators. In the past have stood where Root now stands and, on the same kind of specious sophistry have plead the cause of. Moreover, against the people as Root is now pleading it!

How tragic has been the fall of men like Foraker and Bailey who have seen fit to prostitute the great powers in a service which, no matter how alluring it may be at first is bound to bring humiliation and disgrace in the end. What strange spell is cast over men like Root who, seeing the fate that befell the others still rush headlong down the course of merited oblivion, if not to merited disgrace.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

Editor The Tribune:

Since the city council decided to put the question up to the voters of Coshocton whether or not they desire a charter for the city under the home rule amendment of the new constitution, the commission form of government has more or less been agitating the minds of the voters of this city. On New Year's day, Senator Green spoke in labor and trades hall on the commission form of government, highly commending it and later attorney Frank Pomeroy spoke to the Brotherhood of the M. E. church also in glowing terms of the government by commission. Since this agitation on commission government the question has been often asked—is it a movement from or toward democracy? Senator Green said that government by commission is absolute democracy but afterwards modified it by saying that it is more democratic than our present form. Attorney Pomeroy made no statement either way, the subject being too shrewd to discuss this phase of commission government. But while he did not discuss this phase of the subject he did give a most excellent analysis of government by commission. Of this I wish to write and in doing so I hope to answer the question is commission government a move toward or from democracy. The essential feature of commission government as given by Atty. Pomeroy and very nearly the same by Senator Green and concurred in by most writers on the subject are:

1. Complete centralization of the powers of municipal government in the hands of a commission of from three to five men. This vests these commissioners with all three functions of a government, legislative, executive and judicial and having these functions they decide on what municipal improvements shall be made and where, levy all municipal taxes, try all cases coming under the police powers of a city, etc. It was the work of centuries to separate the three functions of government. Long, bitter experiences of the ages past proved that it is dangerous to the liberties of a people to vest these powers of a government in the hands of a few persons. Accepting this definition and the examination of the charters of many commission governed cities prove it to be true, then a government by commission is a step toward the dark ages of the world's history.

2. These commissioners to be elected on non-partisan ballots at large by the electors of the city. As we shall see this is the only democratic feature of commission government.

3. These commissioners are the only elective officers of the city. They have the power of appointing all under officials.

4. These commissioners have the power of removing all of these under officials. This is not only hitting at our civil service idea but putting politics in our city government with a vengeance. It is the boast of the advocates of the non-partisan ballot that it will keep politics out of our city government, but had politicians held counsel as to how to keep our city government in a political ring they could have hit upon no method that would more effectively do it than giving the power to a few persons to appoint and remove all under officials. The history of our federal politics for the last few years has clearly proven that federal patronage has been one of the most corrupting influences in our national life. The national conventions of the party in power for the last two decades have clearly shown this.

Attorney Pomeroy compared this commission government to the management of the great business corporations. In them there is centralization of power, and the revelations being made by congressional investigations has shown that this centralization of power in business has jeopardized the economical liberties of the people.

Senator Green spoke of the initiative, referendum and recall being applied to municipal government. There is nothing to be said against these features being embodied in the new charter but they no more belong to commission government than to any other form. The initiative, referendum and recall are steps toward democracy but they are but little more than checks in any form of government.

The greatest claim of the advocates of commission government is that the city's money is spent more economically. Well, in the light of how city officials in some of our cities have been spending money that is considerable advancement though the awakened public conscience should mainly be credited with this economical use of municipal money.

But all that is claimed for commission government can be obtained through some other form that is not so destructive of the people's liberties. This change is but a step it may be, perhaps many, but that step is backward not forward. The kind of government a people have is determined not by their officials but by themselves. The intelligence and character of the people is always reflected in the civic life. Place within their hands the powers of government and in the exercise of these powers they will be educated and uplifted. Serious mistakes will be made by us but they will be our mistakes and we will have them to bear. And in the full knowledge of these mistakes, we will use them as stepping stones to higher civic life.

(Signed) JOHN HOUSE.

UNCLE SAM CLAIMS RICH OIL TERRITORY

Washington, Jan. 19.—A suit which will test the title of hundreds of thousands of acres of oil lands in the west with values running into the millions will be filed at Los Angeles, Cal., by the federal government. Assistant Attorney General Knobel instructed United States Attorney McCormick at Los Angeles, to begin proceedings against all the claimants to 167 acres of oil lands in southern California, said to be worth $5,000 an acre. Other suits will follow, all of them testing the legality of the extensive oil land withdrawal made by President Taft Sept. 27, 1906.

When questions were raised as to the president's power to make the withdrawal congress gave him specific authority by the act of June 25, 1910, and President Taft again withdrew the lands July 2, 1910. Between the first and second withdrawals, however, many claims were filed for the lands under the mineral law.

The government holds that the first withdrawal, as well as the second, was legal, and that the title to these valuable tracts is lodged with the United States.

Not only will the government ask the court to declare to be valid its title to the land, but also will seek recovery for all the oil which is said to have been withdrawn, the exact quantity of which must be developed by the suit. The proceedings at Los Angeles, it is understood, will be directed against all those who have claimed or still claim title to the land. Those who have extracted the oil and those who have purchased it.

RESEARCH MEASURE READY FOR HOPPER

Columbus, O., Jan. 19.—It is expected that the administration research bureau bill—the first based on the Wisconsin plan, which greatly interests Governor Cox, to be introduced—will be ready for presentation at the short session of the legislature Monday evening.

It is said that Governor Cox has asked Professor Lowrie, director of the political science department at the University of Cincinnati, to take charge of the new bureau. If he accepts he will be given a position at the Ohio State university.

It is also a part of the plan to employ many of the thousands or more students of the sociology and political economy departments in the university under the director of the bureau. In research work, as their laboratory work.

The new bureau will take over the legislative reference library, which was established by former State Librarian Charles B. Gairbreath. It is proposed that the bureau shall not only work out all such matters as the administration may desire—as for the present, say, child welfare, public utilities, schools, penal reform, mothers' pensions, etc.—but be prepared to provide members of the legislature with all that has been written authoritatively on any subject they may be studying, and also write their bills for them so that they will be certain to be in proper form.

Judge Roasts City Employee. New York, Jan. 18.—Judge Rosalsky in general session took occasion to upbraid a city employee who sought to reduce a payment of $7 a month he had been ordered to pay for the support of his father, nearly 84 years old. "A man like you," Judge Rosalsky said, "is a disgrace to the community and should not hold public office."

BLEASE PROUD OF POSITION ON NEGRO QUESTION

Columbia, S. C., January 18.—Governor Blease, in a message to the legislature, says he is proud of his attitude on the negro question. He says:

"So much has been said and so much has been written about the speeches, which were delivered by me before the governor's conference, and such cowardly, infamous and foul editorials have been heralded throughout this country by various newspapers, that I desire to submit to you exactly what I said, in order that you and the people of South Carolina may see that there was absolutely nothing said by me on that occasion in reference to Lynch law, except what I have said all over South Carolina time and time again, and I have never said it in South Carolina that I did not meet with round after round of applause from the best people of my state. I care nothing for the criticisms of Cubans, mixed breeds, negroes or negro lovers. However, I want the decent element of South Carolina to see what I said and to let them pass judgment for themselves. Furthermore, I want to be made a part of the political history of my state, for I am proud of the views I express."

T. Galloway, chief of the bureau of plant industry. Dr. Galloway said he believed dates, figs, olives and like products would become valuable additions to the crop output of the United States.

MAKES APPLE TREES THINK IT IS WINTER

Washington, Jan. 19.—An attempt to "put one over" on Mother Nature is being made by William F. Thomas, a Washington business man, who, with his father, grows apples out in Montgomery county, Maryland. The balmy, spring-like weather is about to force the apple trees to blossom and bud ahead of time. Thomas has sent to his 40-acre farm in Montgomery county 100 tons of ice. This will be broken into small pieces and packed about the roots of the trees. They will be led to believe then that winter is still in the land.

"If this warm weather continues two more days," said Thomas, "there will be no apples or peaches in this part of the country this year."

J. Lawrence Wins Prizes at Corn Show

Jay Lawrence, the Mill Creek tp. boy who was awarded a trip to Washington on the Corn Special, received additional honors at the Ohio State Corn Show which was held at Lima last week.

He was awarded first prize on ten ears of Reid's Yellow Dent in the boys' class of the South Eastern Division. These ears came from the same acre which won first prize in this county.

Lawrence also won two other cash prizes and three honor certificates in other classes.

It will be remembered that Lawrence won first prize in the county by a yield of 106½ bushels of shelled corn to an acre. This is considered a very heavy yield and combined with the fact that the quality of the grain was high enough to win many prizes.

Sherlock Holmes Film at Mystic Makes Big Hit

At the Mystic Saturday afternoon and evening large crowds witnessed the big special feature "Reigate Squires," a splendid detective film in two reels showing the adventures of Sherlock Holmes.

The picture was full of whole-some thrills and wonderful action, but it scarcely surpassed in popularity the other three feature reels shown both at matinee and night performances. The American film "Pals" showed one of this company's delightful human interest pictures with a magnificent western setting—this picture was a "winner" with the juvenile audience and when the little maiden who was the pet of the ranch was restored to her family through the efforts of her faithful guardian and friend, the house resounded with applause and cheers. The other reels were humorous—but each of the four reels shown at the performance was in itself worth the price of admission.

W. L. C. WINS FROM STRONG O. M. U. FIVE

The West Lafayette College basketball five won a signal victory from the fast O. M. U. team of Columbus at the W. L. C. "gym" Saturday night. The final score was 58 to 12.

Sears Will Discuss the New Charter

The Hon. Walter J. Sears of Columbus has been secured to address the Grace church Brotherhood next Thursday evening on the subject of Commission Form of Government. Mr. Sears is well versed in the subject and his address will be unusually interesting. The Brotherhood has very kindly decided to make the meeting an open one and the public is invited to avail themselves of the privilege of hearing the talk.

An invitation is given specially to the thirty-eight commission candidates who probably more than anyone else in the city are desirous of informing themselves concerning the proposed method of municipal government. The meeting is a timely one and will be of general concern it is thought since all good citizens are interested in any movement that is made in the interest of good government. The meeting will convene Thursday evening at 7:30 in the social rooms of Grace church.

UNRICHSVILLE SLAUGHTERED BY LOCAL ARTISTS

It was a sad and tragic end for the hopes of the Unrichsville team Saturday night on the Wisconsin and Order alleys. They were defeated by the local team by the overwhelming margin of 512 pins for the series of three games.

Johnson for the local team rolled the high score of 212 and maintained an average of 179 while Bricker rolled the high score, 168 for the visitors.

In spite of the crushing defeat the Unrichsville team has consented to roll a return match on the Unrichsville alleys next Saturday night. The score was as follows:

SELL CHILDREN INTO SLAVERY

Spain to Stop Practice in Outlying Provinces.

Madrid, Jan. 19.—As a result of a vigorous protest made by Pablo Iglesias, leader of the Socialist party, the government has finally taken steps to put a stop to the inhuman traffic in children which has been going on for years in the border provinces practically without molestation.

Numerous authenticated instances were reported by Iglesias of children sold by their parents into slavery. The purchasers—"patrons," they are called—take the children to Paris, Lyons, Marseilles, Bordeaux and other large cities, where they compel them to work in glass factories or sell small articles in the streets.

Most of the children thus sold are between the ages of 10 and 15. Those under 12 usually bring $20 and those over from $30 to $40. But the parents seldom get the full amount, deductions being made for "expenses." In many cases it was found that the parents were grossly deceived by the "patrons," believing they were merely placing the children in the hands of kind-hearted gentlemen for learning a trade and for a limited period.

Largest Auto in World.

New York, Jan. 19.—To Jersey City goes the credit of having the largest automobile in the world run through its streets. The machine is owned by the Pennsylvania railroad and is at the Exchange Place terminal ready to be put into service as soon as two chauffeurs have learned to drive it. It will replace the long string of horses which at present haul freight cars through the streets. The automobile weighs 28,550 pounds, is 22 feet long and 8 feet 6 inches wide. Tracey Buckwater, electrical engineer at the Altoona shops of the Pennsylvania railroad, is the inventor of the car, which has been named after him.

Castro Poses as Napoleon.

New York, Jan. 19.—A camera man of a moving picture company went to Ellis Island and had no trouble in persuading the ex-Napoleon of Venezuela to pose for him. General Castro has looked at moving pictures in many cities and likes them. He said he would be delighted, and put on his braided frock coat and his most impressive smile and told the picture man that he might fire when ready. He tucked a hand into his coat and strode to and fro like the real Napoleon on the island of St. Helena. The picture man said later that the result had been very satisfactory.

IMMIGRATION BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

Washington, Jan. 19.—For seven hours the house battled over the conference report on the Burnett-Dillingham bill, which is regarded as the most drastic immigration legislation that has been proposed in many years. The conference report was finally adopted by a vote of 149 to 70. The conference report provides chiefly that all aliens seeking admission to the United States shall be subjected to a test of their ability to read some language or dialect with which they are supposed to be familiar. It increases the immigrant head tax to $5. It also tightens up restrictions against admission of insane aliens. The bill finally passed without a rollcall.

DESERT HOMES IN MAD FLIGHT

People Flee From Raging Waters of Ohio.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 19.—Houses floating down the Ohio river; Enterprise, Ind., with a population of 200, abandoned and probably swept away; Madisonville, Webster and Tompkins, all on the Kentucky side, abandoned and urgent calls for relief from a dozen neighboring towns, marked the flood situation here.

That the crest had been reached was indicated by the river stage, stationary now 24 hours at 46.5 feet. The worst will not be over for several days, however, as the effect of about a week's steady rain will keep the waters high for some time.

Fatalities were certain to have been caused by the high wind, said experienced river men, but, owing to the absence of ordinary means of communication, no confirmation of these fears could be obtained. Wires are down in the seriously damaged districts and train schedules have been abandoned.

Six houses floated down the river, supposedly from Enterprise. The inhabitants of Enterprise have fled to houses in the hills.

The inhabitants of the Kentucky towns are temporarily housed under appalling conditions of overcrowding in Ashleysburg, which lies in the hills of McClean county. This place, Owensboro and Baskett, Ky., besides several smaller villages in Illinois, have made frantic attempts to get food and provisions. An epidemic is feared in the refuge camps.

Wranglers to Meet Early

The Wranglers will hold their meeting Monday evening at 7 o'clock, instead of the usual time, 7:30, in order to give the members an opportunity to hear former District Attorney Francis J. Heney, who is the People's Lecture Course attraction the same evening at Grace M. E. church. G. F. Schaneweler will address the Wranglers, the subject of his paper being "Shall We Fortify the Panama Canal?"

James Lennon of route 1 was in Coshocton on business Saturday.

Sixth Street Had Splendid Bill of Movies

Manager Hamilton of the Sixth Street Theatre more than delighted the crowds which filled the house by his program of three feature films Saturday night.

At each performance the crowds are larger and it follows out the adage familiar to theatrical men, "the effect that no matter if your theatre is on a side street, if the good films are there, the people will make a beaten path to the door."

"The Girl in the Caboose," a thrilling railroad play, "Misleading Evidence," a story of Kentucky moonshiners and "Whiffles the Artist," a comedy, were the three films which so delighted the audiences.

Cyrus McCoy of City route 6 was in Coshocton Saturday.

WARSAW FARMERS INSTITUTE

Maston. In addition to the resolutions given above the committee framed resolutions stating their appreciation of the work of the state speakers, Mrs. Durbin of Fredericktown, Mr. Harsh of Minerva and Austin Herrick of Twinsburg, for their successful appreciation and direction of the work of the trustees of the Presbyterian church for the use of the church and to all who in any way assisted in making the institute a success. The members of the institute also express their gratitude to the merchants of the county for their interest in the Boys' Corn contest and in contests contemplated later.

Afternoon Session
 At the Saturday afternoon session Mrs. Ida Durbin gave her splendid address on "How to be young at fifty." The "Story of a Ninety Acre Run Down Farm" was told by Mr. Herrick at the afternoon session and Mr. Harsh gave a talk on "Orchards" at this session.

Morning Session
 "Business Methods on the Farm" by Mr. Herrick, "Cement on the Farm" by C. E. Darling, "Sanitation and Care of Our Homes" by Mrs. Durbin and "What Hoes to Grow" by Mr. Harsh were the topics of the morning talks. The varied and helpful suggestions brought out in each talk in themselves made the work of the institute worth while. The talk scheduled for Saturday afternoon to be given by Mr. Husted was called off on account of the fact that the time was more than filled.

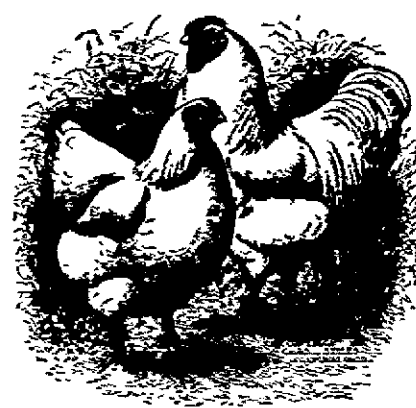

Ask for 1914 Institute With inclement weather and many other hindrances, the Warsaw Institute flourished and was one of the most thoroughly enjoyable and profitable gatherings of the kind ever held in the county. The Warsaw farmers have asked the State Board to grant them a similar institute next year.

Heney Lecture Monday

The appearance of "white" in the eye of a horse indicates a vicious nature, because a high tempered horse constantly looks about apprehensive of danger, or desiring to do mischief. The quick motion of the eyeball in opposite directions exposes an unusually large surface of the white, which thus becomes an evidence of the temper of the animal.

This decision reached, they invited Miss Garden to take part. At first the grand opera singer declined. Then she reconsidered. SLAYERS PLACE BODY ON TRACK

Columbus Man Is Murdered for His Money.

Columbus, O., Jan. 19.—After murdering and robbing Sapstone Padula, 24, an Italian quartermaster of Marble Cliff, his unknown slayers placed his body on the tracks of the Ohio Central railroad, a quarter of a mile south of the Pennsylvania crossing west of Marble Cliff. Before the body was discovered it had been further mutilated by a passing train, which cut off the right arm and leg.

Robbery was evidently the motive, as $426 he was said to have had in his possession, which he intended sending to his wife in Italy, is missing.

Coroner Benkert was summoned, and upon making an examination of the mutilated body, found 35 stab wounds. They were distributed: Ten in the chest, 10 in the back, eight in the abdomen, three in the neck, two in the face and two in the arms.

Rose Declares He Is Broke. New York, Jan. 19.—Jack Rose, the bald gambler, whose testimony had much to do with the conviction of Lieutenant Charles Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States court. The schedules show unsecured debts of over $11,000, against which there are no assets.

May Clean Up Capital. Washington, Jan. 19.—The Kenyon bill proposing a plan to eliminate the segregated district of the District of Columbia by injunction passed the senate. The enjoined property might be publicly sold unless the owner gave bond that it would not again be used for unlawful purposes.

WOOD PULP TARIFF IS TO BE SLASHED

Washington, Jan. 19.—Substantial reduction of the tariff all along the line in the wood pulp and print paper schedule, and retention of approximately the existing duties on tobacco, cigars and similar articles constitute part of the Democratic tariff revision program to be presented to the coming extra session of congress.

This is the situation as viewed by Democratic leaders following two sessions on schedules "M," pulps, papers and books, and "F," tobacco and its manufactures.

Just how far the Democratic members will go in cutting the paper schedule is problematical. So far they have not held a conference on the subject, but the consensus of their sentiment favors reduction wherever possible in this part of the tariff.

Most of the Democratic members of the committee, if not all of them, regard the items in the tobacco schedule as luxuries, and one of the most easily adapted to revenue raising purposes among the 14 schedules of the tariff law.

The STOLEN SINGER

by MARTNA BELLINGER

COPYRIGHT 1911 THE DOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

Two men could not have been found who were better fitted for managing a relief expedition than Hand and Doctor Thayer. Agatha found herself, after an unknown period of time, sitting safe under the canvas awning of the launch, protected by a generous cloak, comforted with food and stimulant, and relieved of the pressing anxiety that had filled the last hours in the cave.

She had, in the end, been quite unable to help; but the immediate need for her help was past. Doctor Thayer, coming with his satchel of medicines, had at first given his whole attention to James, examining him quickly and skilfully as he lay where Agatha had left him. Later he came to Agatha with a few questions, which she answered clearly; but James, left alone, immediately showed such a tendency to wander around, following the hallucinations of his brain, that the doctor decided that he must have a sedative before he could be taken away. The needle, that friend of man in pain, was brought into use; and presently they were able to leave the cave. Doctor Thayer and Mr. Hand carried James to the rowboat, and the engineer, who had stayed in the launch, helped them lift him into the larger boat. "No more walking at present for this man!" said the doctor.

They were puffing briskly over the water, with the tiny rowboat from the Jeanne D'Arc and the boat belonging to the launch cutting a long broken furrow behind them. Mr. Hand was manning the engine, while the engineer and owner of the launch, Little Simon—so-called probably because he was big—stood forward, handling the wheel. Jim was lying on some blankets and oilskins on the floor of the boat, the doctor sitting beside him on a crackerbox. Agatha, feeling useless and powerless to help, sat on the narrow, uncomfortable seat at the side, watching the movements of the doctor. She was unable to tell whether doubt or hope prevailed in his rugged countenance.

At last she ventured her question; but before replying Doctor Thayer looked up at her keenly, as if to judge how much of the truth she would be able to bear.

"The hemorrhage was caused by the strain," he said at last, slowly. "It is bad enough, with this fever. If his constitution is sound, he may pull through."

Not very encouraging, but Agatha extracted the best from it. "Oh, I'm so thankful!" she exclaimed. Doctor Thayer looked at her, a deep interest showing in his grim old face. While she looked at James, he studied her, as if some unusual characteristic claimed his attention, but he made no comment.

Doctor Thayer was short in stature, massively built, with the head and trunk of some ancient Vulcan. His heavy, large features had a rugged nobility, like that of the mountains. His face was smooth-shaven, ruddy-brown, and deeply marked with lines of care; but most salient of all his features was the massively molded chin and jaw. His lips, too, were thick and full, without giving the least impression of grossness; and when he was thinking, he had a habit of thrusting his under jaw slightly forward, which made him look much fiercer than he ever felt. Thin white hair covered his temples and grew in a shaggy fringe around the back of his head, upon which he wore a broad-brimmed soft black hat.

Doctor Thayer would have been noticeable, a man of distinction, anywhere; and yet here he was, with his worn satchel and his old fashioned clothes, traveling year after year over the country-side to the relief of farmers and fishermen. He knew his science, too. It never occurred to him to doubt whether his sphere was large enough for him.

"I haven't found out yet where we are, or to what place we are going. Will you tell me, sir?" asked Agatha. "You came ashore near Ram's Head—the one of the worst reefs on the coast of Maine; and we're heading now for Charlesport; that's over yonder, beyond that next point." Doctor Thayer answered. After a moment he added: "I know nothing about your misadventure, but I assume that you capsized in some pesky boat or other. When you get good and ready, you can tell me all about it. In the meantime, what is your name, young woman?"

The doctor turned his searching blue eyes toward Agatha again, a courteous but eager inquiry underneath his brusque manner. "It is a strange story, Doctor Thayer," said Agatha somewhat reluctantly. "but some time you shall hear of it. I must tell it to somebody, for I need help. My name is Agatha Redmond, and I am from New York; and this gentleman is James Hambleton of Lynn—so he told me. He risked his life to save mine, after we had abandoned the ship."

"I don't doubt it," said Doctor Thayer gruffly. "Some blind dash into the future is the privilege of youth. That's why it's all recklessness and foolishness."

Agatha looked at him keenly, struck by some subtle irony in his voice. "I think it is 'what you yourself would have done, sir,' she said. The doctor thrust out his chin in his disconcerting way, and gave not the least smile; but his small blue eyes twinkled.

"My business is to see just where I'm going and to know exactly what I'm doing," was the dry answer. He turned a watchful look toward James, lying still there between them; then he knelt down, putting an ear over the patient's head.

"All right!" he assured her as he came up. "But we never know how those organs are going to act." Satisfying himself further in regard to James, he waited some time before he addressed Agatha again. Then he said, very deliberately: "The ocean is a savage enemy. My brother Hercules used to quote that old Greek philosopher who said, 'Praise the sea, but
